LITTLE PRAIRIE ELEMENTARY LEADERSHIP GROUP COLLECTING FOOD AND TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS HAMPERS

"We are so grateful for the LPE Leadership group. They have decided to start collecting non-perishable food items and new toys for the local food bank and Christmas Hampers. We appreciate anything that families can donate." (From LPE Facebook page)

The LPE Leadership Group was formed to provide leadership opportunities throughout the school year to students in grades 6 and 7. Their aim is to give back to their school community, local community and global community. The group brain-stormed ways they could be of help to their local community, and the idea they came up with involves selling glow sticks to kids within their school, where the money they make will fund the purchase of toys for local Christmas hampers. To donate something to the cause, get a hold of Christy Monck (group supervisor) at 250-788-1924.

While my parents were making their funeral arrangements, the cemetery salesman pointed out a plot that he thought they would like. "You'll have a beautiful view of the swan pond," he assured them. Dad wasn't sold: "Unless you're including a periscope with my casket, I don't know how I'm going to enjoy it."

I tried having my mother's phone disconnected, but the customer-service rep told me that since the account was in my dad's name, he'd have to be the one to put in the request. The fact that he'd been dead for 40 years didn't sway her. Then a solution hit me: "If I stop paying the bill, you can turn off the service, right?" "Well, yes," she said reluctantly. "But that would ruin his credit."

Three fans were bemoaning the sorry state of their football team. "I blame the general manager," said the first fan. "If he signed better players, we'd be a great team." "I blame the players," said the second fan. "If they made more of an effort, we'd score some points." "I blame my parents," said the third. "If I'd been born in Seattle, I'd be supporting a decent team."

"Poor old fool," thought the well-dressed gentleman as he watched an old man fish in a puddle outside a pub. So he invited the old man inside for a drink. As they sipped their whiskeys, the gentleman thought he'd humor the old man and asked, "So how many have you caught today?" The old man replied, "You're the eighth."

MAYOR'S COLUMN

The Covid-19 pandemic has been center of our thinking for months. I'm certain that everyone is familiar with it's challenges. In fact, I would be so bold as to say that most people reading this, have been negatively affected in some way. I'm also sure that most are aware that infections are on the rise since Thanksgiving, to no surprise of health professionals. Covid-19 is a world problem, but I think it's time that we started tackling it at a local level. The sooner everyone does the same, the sooner we can flatten the curve. I still hear people saying that this is all an over reaction, and maybe even a conspiracy theory. I'm not here to agree or disagree. Does it really matter what we think? If it is a giant conspiracy, it is still here, it is spreading, and as long as it is, we will have restrictions on our lives. So, to anyone who, after all this time, is debating the relevance of the rules, I say, "Who cares!" It is here; as a result, we have rules, and as law abiding citizens, we need to follow rules. What happens if we don't? Are the rules being enforced? If there are no consequence to disobeying rules, they may as well not be there. We need to support the people enforcing these rules and keeping us safe.

Finally, we are all taking what we feel are acceptable risks through this pandemic. I would urge everyone to think about the risks that they are taking and remember that every risk you take is a risk that you are taking for yourself, your family, the people you share a workspace with, and everyone with whom you interact. It also puts a risk on the continued luxuries that we have been given back like going to school, recreational activities, and minor sports.

The schools and minor sports are doing well. Why? Because when children are told something, they listen. They do not normally question the relevance of the rule. I know the reaction that I just received from many of you, but please consider what I just said. When schools resumed classes, the kids were given rules and they are following them, and our education system is functioning well. It is not the schools I'm seeing spread the virus. I do not believe that it's because kids do not carry the virus. It is because they follow the rules. Are we as adults following all the rules set out by our health authority? Did your Thanksgiving dinner have fewer than five people over the occupants of your house? If not, it is our children that will suffer. Wouldn't it be a tragedy if schools and minor sports were shut down, when it was that demographic of the population that listened and followed the rules? As adults, we have had our chance to be kids. Let's do our part to extend that opportunity to our children, this is the only chance they will have.
