FORT ST. JOHN ROTARIANS COOK FOR A CAUSE

Registration is quickly filling up for this weekend's 'Taste of Japan' online cooking class to raise funds in support of Rotary projects in Fort St. John.

Fort St. John Rotarian Shukuko Abe will lead the virtual class over Zoom on Feb. 20, and teach participants how to make classic Japanese dishes from the comfort of their home.

The menu includes Katsudon (かつ丼), a crispy chicken or pork cutlet served with savoury sauce and egg over a bowl of rice, and spinach gomae (ほうれん草の胡麻和え), an easy veggie side dish of blanched spinach dressed in nutty sesame dressing.

"I am doing this event to raise money for our Rotary Club so that we can help the community in return," says Abe. "I also would like to provide a unique, social, and interactive event for people to get together during this pandemic. I would like people to taste an authentic Japanese home meal since we can not travel easy these days."

The class takes place Saturday, Feb. 20, at 5 p.m. The cost to participate is $50, and includes the Zoom link and an ingredients package to feed up to four people. A free ready-made Miso soup is being given to the first 20 people who register.

A $25 class package is also available, and will include the Zoom link along with a set of cooking instructions without the ingredients package.

For more details, and to register, please email admin@fsjrotary.org.

We purchased an old home in northern New York State from two elderly sisters. Winter was fast approaching, and I was concerned about the house's lack of insulation. "If they could live here all those years, so can we!" my husband confidently declared. One November night the temperature plunged to below zero, and we woke up to find interior walls covered with frost. My husband called the sisters to ask how they had kept the house warm. After a brief conversation, he hung up. "For the past 30 years," he muttered, "they've gone to Florida for the winter."

The Internet is just a world passing around notes in a classroom.

One evening after dinner, my five-year-old son Brian noticed that his mother had gone out. In answer to his questions,

I told him, "Mommy is at a Tupperware party."

This explanation satisfied him for only a moment. Puzzled, he asked, "What's a Tupperware party, Dad?"

I've always given my son honest answers, so I figured a simple explanation would be the best approach. "Well, Brian," I said, "at a Tupperware party, a bunch of ladies sit around and sell plastic bowls to each other."

Brian nodded, indicating that he understood. Then he burst into laughter. "Come on, Dad," he said. "What is it really?"

JOINT STATEMENT ON B.C.'S COVID-19 RESPONSE, LATEST UPDATES

FEBRUARY 17 – Dr. Bonnie Henry, B.C.'s provincial health officer, and Adrian Dix, Minister of Health, have issued the following joint statement regarding updates on the COVID-19 response in British Columbia:

“Today, we are reporting 427 new cases, including 20 epi-linked cases, for a total of 74,710 cases in British Columbia. There are 4,150 active cases of COVID-19 in the province. There are 232 individuals currently hospitalized with COVID-19, 63 of whom are in intensive care. The remaining people with COVID-19 are recovering at home in self-isolation. Currently, 7,238 people are under active public health monitoring as a result of identified exposure to known cases. A further 69,167 people who tested positive have recovered.

“Since we last reported, we have had 90 new cases of COVID-19 in the Vancouver Coastal Health region, 236 new cases in the Fraser Health region, 18 in the Island Health region, 47 in the Interior Health region, 31 in the Northern Health region and five new cases of people who reside outside of Canada.

“To date, 176,015 doses of COVID-19 vaccine have been administered in B.C., 26,030 of which are second doses. Immunization data is available on the COVID-19 dashboard: www.bccdc.ca

“There have been three new COVID-19 related deaths, for a total of 1,317 deaths in British Columbia. We offer our condolences to everyone who has lost loved ones to COVID-19. There have been no new health-care facility outbreaks. The outbreaks at Sunnybank Retirement Home and Mountain View Manor are now over.

“The COVID-19 pandemic has put a strain on all of us, but with kindness, compassion and care for those around us, we will see it through. Keeping our communities and each other strong is about taking care of our physical health and mental well-being, and supporting those around us to do the same.

“Most people in B.C. are doing the right thing, and we encourage everyone, in turn, to support friends and family to also continue to take precautions in their daily lives. It is not only our individual efforts that make the difference, but the power of all of us working together that helps break the chains of transmission.

“Researchers continue to monitor and track our progress, to learn from the unique situation that the pandemic has created here in B.C. and around the world. A survey has been launched by the researchers at the University of British Columbia, Simon Fraser University, BC Children's Hospital and the BC Centre for Disease Control (BCCDC) to understand the impacts on the mental well-being of youth. You can participate through the BCCDC online: <https://www.bcchr.ca/POP/our-research/pics>.
