UNVEILING OF PLAQUE

District council, staff and contractors as well as members of the public were in attendance as Councillor Ernest Pfanner officially unveiled the 'Dedicated to the citizens of the District of Chetwynd' plaque at the new Chetwynd Medical Clinic the morning of Wednesday June 24th.

Mel Deck was recognized for his donation of $10,000. The Chetwynd Community wellness centre will officially open its doors to the public Thursday July 2, 2015

CHETWYND READYING FOR CLINIC CHANGEOVER THIS WEEKEND

Doctors are set to close up shop at the Chetwynd Centre Medical Clinic June 26, and moving into a new primary care clinic operated by Northern Health opening up July 2, officials confirm.

In an interview, Northern Health Chief Operating Officer Angela De Smit says the clinic will open next week with just one permanent doctor, but that new doctors are expected to join throughout the summer and into next year.

Dr. Anton Venter will be the only permanent doctor to help open the clinic as three other doctors make their exit from the community.

De Smit says Northern Health will have a locum doctor on hand to help with the opening from July 2 to 17, and hopes to see Dr. Rafal Banas join the clinic on July 18, after finishing his residency in Fort St. John.

Another two nurse practitioners are expected to join the clinic on a temporary basis over the summer months, according to De Smit.

Clinic will be run by Northern Health, provide 'income guarantee' to doctors

The clinic will be operated and managed by Northern Health, with doctors working under a new income guarantee compensation system instead of the usual fee for service practice.

De Smit hopes that will allow for significant medical service shortage. It's a

MEET THE MAYOR June 26, 2015

Most of you know just as much as I do about the Chainsaw Carving event that we enjoyed a few days ago. Probably more than I know. It was one of the best! My official mayoral opinion unbiased by prejudice.

Chetwynd hosted guests from around North America to watch the sculptors free the hidden treasures from the scaly chunks of ancient trees. Astonishing, isn't it, the objects that grow up unseen in the forest, hidden within an ordinary-appearing tree. (I guess a massive cedar tree is ordinary – at least in its habitat, if not here on the eastern slopes.) Just wandering around the grounds with the buzz of the saws in the background I met visitors from Maine and from Alberta; from Chetwynd and from Dawson Creek. Thank you, Chetwynd, for giving them such a warm Chetwynd welcome.

And the sculptors themselves, magnificent specimens of humanity toughened by years of wielding the chainsaw, also journeyed to Chetwynd from places many of us have never visited – Australia, USA, Japan, Canada. Oh sure, some of us have visited these countries but not very likely the home towns of most of the sculptors.

However, it takes more than a brawny arm and a well-tuned chainsaw to release the art from the stump of wood assigned to each competitor. I know how to mix the saw gas, keep my saw sharp, and cut down my beetle-killed pine trees. I even cut them up and stack the wood against the winter blast. But to find the art in the tree – that's not in me. The art has to be deep in the soul before the tree will release it. The sculptor has to have the vision in her or his mind before pulling the start rope. (I wonder what Michelangelo would have done with a chainsaw?)

But what is Chetwynd going to do with the sculptures we are accumulating? Good question. Fact is, there is still room in town to display a few more and we'll likely add a few more still to our inventory but there is a limit to what we can afford to maintain. Council has been thinking, discussing, and seeking advice. The answer is not just blowing in the wind.

Some sculptures may yet find homes in our sister communities in the North East. You saw how the recently discovered Chetwysaurus has found a new home in Tumbler Ridge, the city of dinosaurs, and is delighted to be there. Our Chetwysaurus, in its own quiet way, will contribute much to the beauty of Tumbler Ridge and the interest the town holds for its visitors. Similar arrangements could be made with Dawson Creek, Pouce Coupe, Taylor and Hudson's Hope. Fort St. John already has a sculpture in its airport, as does Prince George.

Is it too much of a stretch to think Grande Prairie airport or, dare we suggest, YVR, with each magnificent piece of art silently doing yeoman's service for Chetwynd, pointing visitors in our direction?

Merlin Nichols, Mayor

CHETWYND READING FOR CLINIC CHANGEOVER THIS WEEKEND

progress in resolving the community's similar program that was used in Fort St. James that has proven successful, De Smit says.

"The District of Chetwynd has been very positive and progressive in terms of what they can do to help recruit physicians," said De Smit.

"One was the building and construction of the new clinic, a very good drawing card for physicians coming to that community.

"The funding model that we're using in Chetwynd is similar to what Northern Health Authority used in Fort St. James, and they've now recruited six physicians," she said.

Dr. Johannes De Jager was expected to rejoin the doctor roster with the opening of the new clinic, however, has since committed elsewhere due to concerns over workloads, De Smit confirmed.

Recruitment ongoing, international doctor to join cast in February

Northern Health is currently advertising for three full-time doctors for Chetwynd to bring the town's complement to five.

It expects to have at least one internationally trained doctor begin their practice readiness assessment exams in September, and, if successful, that doctor would begin practicing in the community in February 2016 on a three-year contract, De Smit said.

"We're continuing to recruit locums that can help with the medical services until we're able to successfully recruit at least at minimum of two physicians," De Smit said.

A pair of recruiters — including Charlene Thomas, who was hired with the help of a $100,000 funding commitment by the Peace River Regional District — were in Penticton in spring, according to De Smit.

There, some 15 doctors had expressed interest in working in Chetwynd, according to De Smit.

"Some of them were quite interested in doing locum work in Chetwynd, and seeing what the community has to offer, the types of services that are provided, with the prospect of then signing on permanently," said De Smit.

"We hope the combination of the clinic, the community, the type of work they're doing and the compensation model will attract physicians to the community."

New clinic model could carry into Fort St. John

The income guarantee compensation model sounds like it could also gain traction in Fort St. John in the very near future.

Under the model, doctors are paid a set salary, that takes into consideration the overheads cost for Northern Health to run the clinic, without doctors having to pay and manage those costs directly.

"The large benefit for the income guarantee model is it allows them to come and practice medicine without having to worry about starting up their own business, or joining a practice, and then having to be concerned about doing the management and operations of the clinic," said De Smit.

"We can maximize the time that physicians are able to spend with patients doing the work that physicians like to do."

2015 CMB RESULTS

"The Old Ball Game" The finale to another great minor baseball season was celebrated at the Chetwynd Ballpark on Thursday, June 18, 2015. Fun games between teams in the Mites Division and parents vs players & coaches in the Pony Division was the highlight of the wind-up. An outdoor Pizza Party along with presentations & fun player draws capped off the event for the ball players between the ages of 8 - 18 years old. The Chetwynd Minor Ball Pony Division (ages 13 - 18) had league play between The Runs, I.P. Excellence & Kings ball teams. This was an exciting & competitive series in which each team beat the other teams at least once. Divisional winners resulted in a tie and the 2015 Pony League Championship trophy was awarded to The Runs & IP Excellence.

The Mites Division (ages 8 - 12) best of eight game series was played between the Yellow Vipers, Grey Wolves, Green Mean Baseball Machine & Red Devils. The games were close with the Mites teams, but only one team remained undefeated all season. The Grey Wolves were named 2015 Mites League Champions for their stellar performance.
