CHETWYND HOSPITAL TEMPORARY LIMITED EMERGENCY ROOM COVERAGE – AUGUST 14 UPDATE

Thanks to the support of physicians, including the permanent physicians and locum physicians, the emergency department in Chetwynd will be open for the remainder of August.

Northern Health's emergency rooms tend to patients who have experienced a sudden and/or unusual change in their health. This includes, but isn't limited to, breathing difficulties, severe bleeding or pain, broken bones, chest pain and eye injuries. Patients attending the emergency department with non-urgent needs will be encouraged to visit the Chetwynd Primary Care Clinic during its hours of operation. The Chetwynd Primary Care Clinic is currently offering booked appointments and walk-in sessions, and is open Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Patients who aren't sure whether their condition would warrant an emergency room visit, or who need health advice can call HealthLink BC (8-1-1), or visit www.HealthLinkBC.ca for non-emergency health information from nurses, dietitians, and pharmacists 24 hours a day, seven days per week.

Chetwynd currently has two-full time physicians, and another full time physician is expected to join the team after completing the practice ready assessment in February 2016. These physicians have been supported by locum physicians and a nurse practitioner during the summer.

Northern Health will continue to work collaboratively with local physicians, the District of Chetwynd and the province to recruit physicians to Chetwynd. The new Chetwynd Primary Care Clinic that officially opened this month creates a model of care that we know is attractive to physicians and nurse practitioners.

DAWSON CREEK RCMP WEEK OF AUGUST 9-15

Dawson Creek RCMP responded to 204 calls for service during the week of August 9th - 15th 2015. Included in the calls for service were 8 break and enters, 11 thefts, 23 driving complaints, 7 motor vehicle collisions and 3 impaired driving investigations.

On August 13th 2015, officers responded to a complaint of shots fired from the Ministry of Transportation gravel pit located on Radar Lake road. Police have previously put out a news release about this gravel pit advising public against using this pit to sight in firearms as it is private property. Further that the proximity to houses in the area has resulted in bullets entering a residence in the area. Police want to stress to the public that this gravel pit is private property and that there is a huge risk of both criminal and civil liability to anyone who uses this pit to sight in firearms.

On August 14th 2015, officers responded to a complaint of an alarm at a business on Golf Course Road in Dawson Creek. Upon arrival police located a vehicle parked just outside the business and subsequently located a male inside the yard attempting to hide from police. The 37 year old male was taken into custody and charged with one count of break and enter commit theft, two counts of possession of break and enter tools, and one count of mischief. A judicial hearing was held and the male was released on $1500.00 recognizance with a court appearance of September 15th 2015.

On August 16th 2015, officers responded to a complaint of break and enter at AudioTronics located on 102nd ave in Dawson Creek. Video surveillance shows two suspects entering the store and stealing over $50,000 worth of electronic equipment and cellular devices. The suspects loaded the items into a vehicle which had been stolen earlier from a site located between Dawson Creek and Fort St. John. Police are seeking the public assistance in identifying the two individuals involved in the theft. Anyone with information can contact Dawson Creek RCMP or call Crimestoppers if they wish to remain anonymous (See photo below).

My husband, who is an auto mechanic, received a repair order that read: "Check for clunking noise when going around corners." Taking the car out for a test drive, he made a right turn, and a moment later heard a clunk. He then made a left turn and again heard a clunk. Back at the shop, he opened the trunk and soon discovered the problem.

Promptly he returned the repair order to the service manager with this notation: "Remove bowling ball from trunk."

INCREASED HELP FOR ABORIGINAL WOMEN AND CHILDREN FLEEING ABUSE

The Mizpah Transition House, Chetwynd Safe Home and Tumbler Ridge Safe Home are receiving a total of $20,000 to help support Aboriginal women and children who are affected by domestic violence and fleeing to rebuild their lives.

The Chetwynd Safe Home is receiving $5,000, the Mizpah Transition House in Fort St. John is receiving $10,000 and Tumbler Ridge Safe Homes is receiving $5,000. "This funding will help local Aboriginal women, children and youth access the supports and services in their time of need," said Mike Bernier, MLA for Peace River South. "Our government continues to support victims of violence and we are working diligently to ensure all women, children and families throughout B.C. can feel safe and not have to suffer from the fear of violence."

Aboriginal women and children make up a large percentage of British Columbians who are affected by domestic violence and other crimes. In fact, Aboriginal women in B.C. are nearly three times more likely to be victims of domestic violence than non-Aboriginal women.

This funding will allow the South Peace Community Resources Society to help improve programs and services and make them more accessible to the Aboriginal women and children who need them, especially in rural and remote communities.

The transition house and safe homes offer short-term counselling and shelter for women and their children at risk of or who have experienced violence. In addition, they help provide access to supports and services such as information and supports for decision-making, short-term shelter or housing, referrals to other services and links to affordable housing.

MOBERLY LAKE RESIDENT DISCOVERS FOSSIL IN TUMBLER RIDGE

An excavator operator made an unexpected discovery while on the job in late July.

Warren Garbitt of Moberly Lake was working on Pattern Development's Meikle Wind Project site when he came across an unusual bumpy slab and reported it, only for the piece to be identified as a 97 million year old ankylosaur trackway.

Rich McCrea, who is the Curator of Palaeontology at the Tumbler Ridge Museum Foundation, said that the find is significant because of one deep footprint with three visible digit impressions. The first ankylosaur tracks described from Canada had four obvious digit impressions, but this find adds to the small, but growing population of three-toed ankylosaur tracks.

The tracks add to a list of discoveries this summer near Tumbler Ridge. Crocodilian trackways, theropod footprints, three large three-dimensional Triassic coelacanth skulls, and the most complete thalattosaur skeleton ever found in North America are among some of the discoveries. This latest discovery comes in the wake of Tumbler Ridge being named the 2nd UNESCO Global GeoPark in North America.

The piece will eventually be moved to the museum to be displayed.

YEAR-LONG SITE C DELAY COULD COST OVER $300 MILLION

BC Hydro says that a one-year construction delay on the Site C dam would add $335 million to the dam's costs.

The Crown utility filed a response in B.C. Supreme Court last week, challenging a pair of Treaty 8 First Nations who are seeking an injunction on the dam's construction until their provincial and federal legal cases are concluded. BC Hydro has already estimated the cost of the dam at $8.8 billion, including contingencies.

According to court documents, Hydro estimates the delay will drive up interest rates, add demobilization and remobilization expenses, and add other sunk costs. According to an article in the Alaska Highway News, a delay would even imperil Chetwynd-based contractor Paul Paquette and Sons Construction, which has been awarded the contract to clear sections of the south bank of the Peace River.

Both the West Moberly and Prophet River First Nations filed an application in court on Aug. 4 against the 36 provincial permits that allowed the work to proceed. The two nations have a pair of cases in both the B.C. and Canadian Supreme Courts against the dam's environmental assessment certificate issued by the B.C. government. The two bands are seeking an injunction on the permits, which would require Hydro to stop work on parts of the project, until the courts have ruled on the bands' lawsuits and the project's legality. Hydro did not accept any of their requests for an injunction, saying additional costs to the project will be paid for by ratepayers.

EARTHQUAKE NEAR ALASKA HIGHWAY

According to Natural Resources Canada, a 4.4-magnitude earthquake occurred the afternoon of Monday August 17th northwest of Wonowon, centred near the Jedney Road and the Alaska Highway at around 1:15 p.m.

The website states that there are no reports or damage at this point, nor would any be expected given the ground motion from a magnitude 4.4 quake.

According to reports, the earthquake was felt as far south as Charlie Lake, and as far north as Pink Mountain.

John Cassidy with Natural Resources Canada says they will now investigate to determine if the earthquake was induced by fracking or a naturally occurring earthquake.

According to a B.C. Oil and Gas Commission report, the practice was confirmed to have caused 11 earthquakes in the Montney basin area surrounding Fort St. John and Dawson Creek between August 2013 and October 2014 that could be felt on the surface.
