JOINT STATEMENT ON B.C.'S COVID-19 RESPONSE, LATEST UPDATES

Dr. Bonnie Henry, B.C.'s provincial health officer and Adrian Dix, Minister of Health, have issued the following joint statement regarding updates on the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) response in British Columbia:

"Today, we are reporting 335 new cases, including seven epi-linked cases, for a total of 16,135 cases in British Columbia.

"There are 3,120 active cases of COVID-19 in the province, 7,133 people who are under active public health monitoring as a result of identified exposure to known cases, and 12,659 people who tested positive have recovered.

"Currently, 92 individuals are hospitalized with COVID-19, 25 of whom are in intensive care. The remaining people with COVID-19 are recovering at home in self-isolation.

"Since the start of the pandemic, there have been 5,097 cases of COVID-19 in the Vancouver Coastal Health region, 9,439 in the Fraser Health region, 274 in the Island Health region, 803 in the Interior Health region, 432 in the Northern Health region and 90 cases of people who reside outside of Canada.

"There has been one new COVID-19 related death, for a total of 273 deaths in British Columbia. We offer our condolences to everyone who has lost their loved ones during the COVID-19 pandemic."

something you remember.*

A customer walked into our store looking for Christmas lights. I showed her our top brand, but—wanting to make sure each bulb worked—she asked me to take them out of the box and plug them in. I did, and each one lit up. "Great," she said. I carefully placed the string of lights back in the box. But as I handed them to her, she looked alarmed. "I don't want this box," she said abruptly. "It's been opened."

I provide technical support for the computer software published by my company. One day, over the phone, I was helping a customer install a product on a Macintosh. The procedure required him to delete an old file. On the Mac there is an icon of a trash can that is used to collect items to be permanently deleted.

I told the customer to click on the old file and drag it to the trash. Then I had him perform a few other steps. As a reminder, I said, "Don't forget to empty the trash."

Obediently he replied, "Yes, dear."

TRUE BC RANCHERS WITH AN INCREDIBLE IMAGINATION!

Have you ever noticed scenes like these on the way to Dawson Creek?

Just past Groundbirch, the Odden family (ranchers who own the property where the displays can be seen) has created fun and silly characters using hay bales for the last several years. You may recall their last project, which featured 2 hilarious minions standing side by side.

Two Chetwynd locals wanted to bring a little bit of recognition and show their appreciation for the display, and say that it makes their frequent trips to Dawson much more enjoyable.

Two friends run into each other while walking their dogs. One suggests lunch. The other says, "They won't let us in a restaurant with pets." Undeterred, the first guy and his German shepherd head into the restaurant. The maître d' stops them, saying, "Sir, you can't bring your dog in here." "But I'm blind," the man replies, "and this is my guide dog." The maître d', apologizing profusely, shows both man and dog to a table. His friend waits five minutes, then tries the same routine. "You have a Chihuahua for a guide dog?" the skeptical maître d' says. "A Chihuahua?" the man says. "Is that what they gave me?"

Woody debris burning at Site C: October–March

BC Hydro will be resuming its annual wood debris removal and burning program in Site C project areas, from October to March.

Burning may take place in the following areas:

- Both banks of the Peace River, between Halfway River and the dam site
- Halfway River drainage, Moberly River drainage, and Cache Creek drainage
- Islands in the Peace River
- Along Highway 29 between Hudson's Hope and Fort St. John

Burning will only occur during custom venting windows authorized under provincial regulations, specific to Site C.

ASIAN GIANT HORNET FOUND IN ABBOTSFORD

Abbotsford-area beekeepers and residents are being asked to report if they see any Asian giant hornets (Vespa mandarinia), following the discovery of one hornet in the 7000 block of Bradner Road on Monday, Nov. 2, 2020.

Though Asian giant hornet activity declines rapidly as colder temperatures arrive, people are encouraged to report possible findings. This can be done through calling the Invasive Species Council of BC at 1 888 933-3722, via the council's Report Invasives mobile phone app or at: <https://bcinvasives.ca/report>

Single hornets were found in White Rock and Langley in 2019, and on 0 Avenue in Langley in 2020. A nest has never been found in the Fraser Valley or Lower Mainland.

Survey efforts in the Fraser Valley in 2020 have focused on surveillance and trap monitoring along 0 Avenue with the support of local beekeepers and other organizations, as well as in Nanaimo, where a nest was located and destroyed in 2019.

In October 2020, Washington State Department of Agriculture entomologists eradicated an Asian giant hornet nest following multiple findings of single hornets in the same area of Blaine.

A sting from an Asian giant hornet can be very painful and cause localized swelling, redness and itching due to the larger amount of venom injected. However, the hornets are not interested in humans, pets and large animals. Asian giant hornets hunt insects for food and will only attack people when their nest is disturbed.

To view photos of the Asian giant hornet and the look-alike species bald-faced hornet, yellow jacket, elm sawfly and northern hornetail, visit: www2.gov.bc.ca/assets/gov/farming-natural-resources-and-industry/agriculture-and-seafood/animal-and-crops/plant-health/pest\_alert\_asian\_hornet.pdf

As a salesperson, I do a lot of business over the phone. One man who called to place an order had a nice voice, so when he asked if I wanted his number, I took the opportunity to offer mine as well.

"Um," he stammered, "I was talking about my purchase-order number."

"I'll never find the right guy," I heard the young guest at the wedding shower sigh. "Don't give up," urged an older woman.

"Every pot has a lid."

"Or," a cynical voice behind her offered, "you could just be a skillet."

Lest We Forget

My husband, who uses a wheelchair, showed up at his eye doctor's for an appointment.

The receptionist checked the schedule, then said, "The nurse will call you in a moment. Have a seat." He smiled. "Done."

After searching for a particular book on dinosaurs in the science section without luck, a customer looked to me for help. She showed me a piece of paper with the title written on it: Thesaurus.

I was delivering pizzas when I fell hard onto the sidewalk. Seeing me sprawled on the ground, my concerned customer yelled, "Oh, no! The pizzas!"
