7 WAYS TO GET INVOLVED IN LOCAL POLITICS AND PROTECT DEMOCRACY

Many of us are increasingly dismayed by the erosion of democracy. Sometimes we don't realize what has happened until it's too late and that's a little like closing the barn door after the cows have escaped. Sometimes it can feel that we have little power, and perhaps on a large scale, that is true. But where citizens can truly have an impact is at the grassroots level, when voting for local representatives. Yet turnout at municipal elections is rarely above 50 per cent, much lower than at provincial or federal levels.

So here are some ways to get involved and make a difference: Find out who your local alder(wo)man or councillor is and find out how to get in touch with them. Attend local council meetings in order to know what decisions are being made. You can have an impact because these actions usually affect you directly. Join a local community group — there are many that advocate everything from saving green spaces to feeding the hungry. Then push local politicians to support your work. During an election year (municipal elections are held every four years in the fall) get involved in a campaign and support a candidate whose ideas align with yours. You will get to know the issues, and your neighbours, as you go door-to-door. Subscribe to several newspapers or online publications; this supports journalism, which is important to democracy and keeps you informed.

Vote. This is a privilege that not everyone in the world enjoys. Don't waste your voice as every vote counts.

And finally, stay involved when the election is over.

$3.50 ONLY

This is not a drill. The Teen Burger is really just $3.50. What's changed? Nothing except the price. It's still made with the best ingredients—100% pure beef raised without the use of hormones or steroids, bacon that's naturally smoked with pecan wood, melted processed cheese, crisp lettuce and vine-ripened tomatoes. It's just really good food at a really good price, for a limited time.

THANKSGIVING HACKS YOU'LL BE GRATEFUL FOR

This holiday is all about spending time with family and friends. But that can be a tough thing to do if you're stuck in the kitchen. This Thanksgiving, entertaining expert Pay Chen is sharing her tips on getting you out from in front of the stove and into a comfortable seat at the dining room table.

Your freezer is your friend. From casseroles to gravy and cranberry sauce, Chen suggests pre-making dishes days ahead and popping them in the freezer. Simply defrost them in the fridge one to two days before Thanksgiving and reheat on the stove or in the oven, slow cooker or microwave. The freezer can also be help on the big day itself - if you get handed a great bottle of wine that you want to open that evening, cool off the bottle fast by wrapping it in a damp dish towel or paper towel and sticking it in the freezer for 10 to 15 minutes. Just don't forget to take it out on time or the bottle may explode.

Pull out the slow cooker. With an oven full of turkey, the slow-cooker can be a great pinch-hitter. Chen recommends bringing the slow cooker in for the quintessential Thanksgiving side dish, mashed potatoes. "Simply cut up peeled potatoes and put them in a slow cooker with about a cup of water. After about four hours on high, mash them right in the slow cooker with some warm milk and butter."

Pre-cut your vegetables. Chopping vegetables in advance will save you a lot of time on the big day, says Chen. If you're really strapped for time, grocery stores also offer pre-cut and pre-washed vegetables, although these are often at a higher price point.

Consider a pre-made dessert. Dessert is the finish line of the meal, and there's nothing better than a little assist to bring it home. "If you're running low on time, consider picking up a quick and delicious frozen dessert," says Chen. "Just make sure it's a top-quality option that matches the made-from-scratch spirit of the meal." Try the new collection of frozen treats from the Ontario apple farm Chudleigh's, now available in the freezer section of most Ontario grocery stores. The farm's new bake-at-home collection includes their signature Apple Blossoms and other scratch-made, fresh-from-frozen treats that you can reheat in the oven or microwave in just minutes.

Batch make cocktails. "Before your guests arrive, prepare a pre-made batch of cocktails and invite them to serve themselves," suggests Chen. "Not only will they be delighted by the special touch, it will take some of the pressure off of you having to attend to filling their glasses."

Meet Your Local Election Candidate

MEL DECK

A LITTLE ABOUT MEL

My name is Mel Deck and I have resided in Chetwynd since 1981. I have worked in Chetwynd at two jobs for over 35 years until approximately 6 years ago when I retired from West Fraser. I currently still run a small painting company with two employees. With these two jobs I have worked in a team environment which leads to being able to listen when required and stand my ground if it is for the proper reasons. Having been on council for one term I have learned our staff does an excellent job of supporting council in securing grants for projects our community needs ie: sewer and water plant upgrades. I have also learned a lot of decisions are out of our local government control, however, I am capable of voicing concerns to ensure the best for our community.

What do you cherish most about our community?

What I cherish most about our community is our volunteers and community spirit which is witnessed at all sporting and community events, or when someone is in need.

What specific qualities do you possess that will make you an ideal candidate for council?

I feel I would contribute to council as I have a private sector background. I realize money has to be spent but we have to spend it responsibly. I work well in a team environment and am accessible and will listen to other's opinions. I can make tough decisions if needed.

What does a sustainable future for our community look like?

A sustainable future for our community would include restraint in spending when times are good to avoid cut backs if times get poor. A vibrant health care system and more affordable housing for low to medium income earners.

What are the most important challenges facing our community?

The most important challenges facing our community are financing continual infrastructure upgrades, retaining health care professionals, private sector employee recruitment and taxes.
