Both Federal & Provincial Passport soon Required

British Columbians will be required to have both a federal vaccine passport and BC Vaccine Card if they want to eat at a restaurant and travel by airplane.

Premier John Horgan acknowledged the rollout of the federal vaccine passport will lead to “confusion” in British Columbia. He did not explain why the BC Vaccine Card, which has been downloaded by more than 3.7 million people, does not sync up with the new federal card. “If you want to travel internationally or on federally regulated modes of transportation you are going to need to have a separate card,” Horgan said. “You can do that by reviewing the information being provided by the federal government. We will look at how we can bring the two together.”

Starting on Oct. 30, Canadians will be required to show proof of immunization or a negative PCR test result to travel on a plane or train. There will be a grace period and, according to Horgan, it seems that during the grace period the BC Vaccine Card will be enough. But starting on Nov. 30, Canadians will need to show a federal vaccine passport to travel in and out of the country. This card will be separate from the B.C. card.

In order to travel, Canadians will be required to provide proof they have been fully immunized against COVID-19. The B.C. card shows someone has been vaccinated twice. The federal vaccine passport will show your name, date of birth, and COVID-19 vaccine history — including which doses you received and when you received them. “We are hopefully going to clarify issues in the days ahead,” Horgan said.

“I know the B.C. card will be acceptable for a period of time. It does create confusion for people anxious to travel.”

British Columbia, along with all provinces, has agreed to conform proof-of-vaccine documents, or COVID-19 vaccine passports, to a national standard so that they can be used for international and domestic travel.

I'M A NURSE IN A HOSPITAL'S CHILDREN'S WARD. ONE NIGHT, I WAS AT THE NURSES' STATION WHEN I HEARD A LITTLE BOY IN HIS ROOM TALKING. HE KEPT THE PATTERN UP FOR SOME TIME. FINALLY, I GOT ON THE INTERCOM AND SAID SOFTLY BUT FIRMLY, "ALL RIGHT, JOHNNY, IT'S TIME TO GO TO SLEEP NOW." THERE WAS QUIET IN THE ROOM, AND THEN HE SAID, "OK. GOD. I WILL." I DIDN'T HEAR A PEEP FROM HIM UNTIL MORNING.

I was working from home, interviewing a famous neurologist for an article, when my three-year-old announced she had to go potty and waddled into the bathroom. After some loud moans, she yelled, "I did it, Mom! I pooped in the toilet! I pooped on the floor too! But I'll clean it! Oh, I stepped in it!" There was an uncomfortable silence as I realized the doctor had heard every word. "Ha ha," I laughed nervously. "Do you have kids?" "No," he said, "and I never will."

I was waiting at a small train station when a man put up a sign regarding my train: "30-Minute Delay." "What happened?" I asked. "The train went off the rails," he said. "How long will that take to fix?" "Quite a few hours." "So why put up a sign saying it would take 30 minutes?" "It's the only sign we have."

A few of us were discussing the perils of drinking and driving when my five-year-old granddaughter threw in her two cents. "I can see why it would be dangerous to drink and drive," she said. "The straw could go up your nose."

If you think you're too small to have an impact, try going to bed with a mosquito.
