Sleep is a symptom of caffeine deprivation.

Every generation responds to crisis differently. One time, during a dinner out, my mom and my aunt got into a huge fight over the latter's spending habits. My mom, prone to dramatic displays, protested by leaving the restaurant and lying down in the middle of traffic. Everyone immediately rushed outside. My dad was convincing her to get off the road, I was redirecting cars and my two uncles were trying to calm the gathering crowd behind us. After my aunt apologized and my mom agreed to get up, we suddenly realized that my younger brother, 20, was missing. Fifteen minutes later, we finally found him crouching behind a large garbage bin. When asked why he was hiding, he said, "I don't want to end up on YouTube."

Health For Your Home by Linda Franklin

This column is designed to address economical discoveries that will affect your health in a positive way.

What To Do With All That Zucchini?

Have you been as busy this summer as I have been? Time spent in the garden is paying off, though, isn't it? Now we call upon our imagination to use all those vegetables wisely! Do you have as much zucchini squash as I do?

"Keep your car locked," say the local gardeners, referring to the influx of the prolific wonder that may magically appear in on the back seat of your vehicle! The next few weeks I will share some recipes (including zucchini!) from Your Home in the Country (my recent book that includes a large recipe section involving garden produce).

Breaded Baked Zucchini—slice a medium-sized tender-skinned zucchini into 1/4 - 1/2-inch slabs, dip each into water and then coat with a thin batter or breading meal (I use a dry mix of equal parts flour and nutritional yeast flakes with a little chicken seasoning). Place these slabs onto a well-oiled oiled cookie sheet and bake at 400 F until browned on the bottom, then turn them over until browned on the other side. Serve hot. May be served as an entrée, with ketchup or sweet and sour sauce.

Next week I'll share a recipe for mouth-watering brownies that puts Zucchini in demand!

Dyllan is survived by his Parents (Shelley and Randy), his older brother and his wife (Cody and Lacey), his younger sister (Amanda), His beautiful twin babies (London and Layton), and girlfriend (Janessa)

He was raised on a farm and loved animals, tools, and fixing equipment. A Red Seal Heavy Duty Mechanic by trade, and was known for being an extremely hard worker. If it has anything to do with honesty, compassion, appreciating the silence of a winter morning, remembering to listen when the leaves fall and believing in magic, then my parents were, and still are, hippies.

I feel inadequate when talking with a mechanic, so when my vehicle started making a strange noise, I sought help from a friend. He drove the car around the block, listened carefully, then told me how to explain the difficulty when I took it in for repair. At the shop I proudly recited, "The timing is off, and there are premature detonations, which may damage the valves." As I smugly glanced over the mechanic's shoulder, I saw him write on his clipboard "Lady says it makes a funny noise."
