FLOOD HAZARD STUDY

The District of Chetwynd held an open house on Tuesday, July 11th, to gather information from residents in regards to a flood hazard study being conducted of the area.

As everyone knows, Chetwynd has been hit hard by flooding over the past few years and the District is hoping to get ahead of the game.

Substantial flooding caused damage to infrastructure and properties, impacted the District's operating and capital budgets, and even led to the declaring of a local state of emergency in 2016.

Along with residents, key stakeholders and its consultants, Urban Systems, the District is undertaking a "flood hazard study" to help assess and lessen the future risk of flooding.

Mayor Nichols suggests the study will help to position them to more proactively deal with potential flooding in the future.

Benefits of this study:

- Better understand flood hazards and risks to existing development and property.
- Assess future development plans and land use near creek channels to reduce flood hazards and avoid creating new problems.
- Evaluate the available options for dealing with existing flood risks.
- Identify suitable, efficient, and cost-effective measures for dealing with flood hazards in the District.
- Understand how non-District owned and maintained assets may affect flooding potential in the downtown area.
- Develop a long-term capital improvement plan aimed at upgrading the performance of the existing drainage system, where possible and practical, over time.
- Identify non-structural solutions, such as a bylaw aimed at flood hazard protection through municipal regulations.
- Secure available funding for future flood mitigation work.

There were a few different diagrams of areas at risk, as well as of potential bio-engineered plans for creek beds, that listed the pros and the cons of each design. Residents were asked to input their opinion in the form of stickers whether they agree and disagree with each idea.

Residents were asked to share their personal experience with flooding in town and were even asked how they feel it could be improved.

If you missed the public input meeting, you can still get your voice out by checking out input stations set up at both the Rec Centre and the District Office. For more information, go to GoChetwynd.com

How do you top a burger that's made with 100% pure beef raised without the use of hormones or steroids? Generously, that's how. Like with a double helping of cheese and naturally smoked bacon. Because when you've made Canada's best tasting burger, there's nowhere to go but up.

EDWARD STOSKI

1937 ~ 2017

Edward Stoski, a resident of Pouce Coupe, B.C. passed away at the age of 80 years on July 8th, 2017 in the Dawson Creek and District Hospital in Dawson Creek, B.C.

Edward Stoski was born to William and Annie Stoski on June 12th, 1937 in Bankend, SK. Edward was the 2nd oldest of 7 children, all of whom have preceded him in death.

His loving wife Pauline Stoski, of whom he married on June 23rd, 1958 survives Edward. He is also survived by his 4 children, Sharon (Brad) Dundas, Bernard (Tannis) Stoski, Susan (Kevin) Tobler, Shannon (Eldon) Weaver, as well as his grandsons, Joshua, Eric, Jackson, Jameson, Bradon, Seth and Nathaniel, and his granddaughter Michaela.

Edward worked as a millwright in the lumber industry. He had a natural affinity and love for working with anything mechanical, working wonders with his tools, duct tape and a roll of black electrical tape. He had a saying, "It ain't broke if tape could hold it together."

He had a passion for fishing, any season, any weather, as well as a great fondness for his dogs. Edward will be greatly missed by family and friends who knew him.

Memorial and Interment services will be scheduled for a later date.

The family is especially grateful to the staff at Rotary Manor, for their care and dedication given to Edward during his stay with them.

For friends so wishing, donations may be made in memory of Edward to the Rotary Manor Resident Council Fund, 1121-90 Avenue, Dawson Creek, B.C. V1G 5A3.

Very Respectfully Reynars Funeral Home & Crematorium

KELSEY'S CHRONICLE

There are so many reasons to live in the beautiful province of British Columbia, but here are a few that make us BY FAR the best province in Canada - them are fightin' words!

Most beautiful mountain ranges - Northern Rocky Mountains, Selkirks, Purcells, Casiar, Cariboo, and Cascades, just to name a few of the nicest mountains in the world!

Beautiful blue glacial lakes - The colour of some of BC's lakes bring people from around the world to see the wonder that is the bright blue water. As snow and ice begins to melt in the spring, it carries with it glacier silt or rock flour. The silt is created when rocks underneath the surface of the ice are grinding from the movement of the glacier. The rock flour is very light and stays suspended in the lake water for a long time. The sunlight that reflects off this rock flour is what gives the lakes their spectacular turquoise blue or green colour... magic!

Skiing - There are a fair share of great ski hills throughout BC, including Whistler/Blackcomb, Sun Peaks, Kicking Horse, Big White, and Powder King. These are just the most well known but there are many smaller mountains that are just as great!

Waves in Tofino - Some surfers have said that Tofino's waves are some of the best in the world.

Hotsprings - Have you ever sat and relaxed in the sulfury smell of a natural hotspring? Well if that's your thing, BC is your place to live! B.C. has more than 25 natural hotsprings, some that are well known, and others that are well hidden.

Wine country - The Okanagan is home to over 80% of BC's wineries, and for good reason. With their summer season, it is the ideal growing environment to create some of the world's best wine.

Sunsets and sunrises - Although everyone can compete about who has the nicest sunsets and sunrises, BC's west coast is known for its spectacular colours as the sun rises and sets.

Northern Lights - In the dead of night, or early morning hours, some of the best light shows on earth can be seen from right here in the Peace Region, and get even better as you head more north.

Orcas - While taking a ferry (or a smaller boat) through the southern gulf islands or the Juan de Fuca or Georgia Straits, many have seen majestic orca whales swimming.

Camping spots - Whether you're looking for an all amenities campground that has a clubhouse and inground pool, or you like roughing it in the bushes, BC has some of the best camping spots in Canada.

Numerous picturesque small towns - Everyone knows how beautiful some of BC's small towns are, even the American Film Industry, who have featured many of BC's towns in their box office movies.

Spirit Bear - While many think the spirit bear is an albino black bear, it is in fact a black bear who is just pigmented white. You can find one of these guys in the central and north coast regions of BC.

I could go on for days, but these are just a few of the many reasons more and more people are choosing to call British Columbia their home.

MAYOR'S REPORT

We are into July and the floods have not come. However, this is no cause for relaxing our vigilance and going on vacation. Just kidding about your vacation. You'd better take it because you need it. Paul is on high alert.

I am reminded of an ancient teaching about preparation: Don't build your house on the sand; build it on the rock so that when the floods come and the winds blow, as they will, the chance of your house standing through high water and a gale is much enhanced.

Chetwynd has received a grant of $150,000 to help the community identify those metaphorical rocks that will increase our chances of surviving the next flood with minimal damage to municipal infrastructure as well as to your personal investments in real estate – if we build on them.

Having noted that, we need to understand that private property owners have an obligation to protect their own properties as far as humanly possible. Are your own drains, sumps, and backwater valves adequate for the job? What about an electrical generator in the event of an extended power loss? Are you equipped to respond to a personal emergency and, if necessary give aide to a neighbour?

Chetwynd has engaged Urban Systems, a city planning and engineering firm, to perform an analysis of flood hazards and to recommend measures we can take as a municipality to reduce our corporate risks. Some of you may have attended the Open House on July 11. Of course, some of you didn't attend. But maybe you should have.

Because the floods will come. Maybe not in five years. Maybe not in ten. But come they will and sad the town or the family that is not at least in some measure ready and knowledgeable.

Of course there is a cost to preparation. One hundred fifty grand will only give us a picture of the hazards and some ideas about to how to reduce them. The big cost is still to come and your Council will have to weigh its priorities when it comes to spending your tax dollars. Will it be streets, water mains, sewers, trees, sidewalks, lighting, or will it be deepening the bed of Windrem Creek, dyking Widmark Creek, or increasing the capacity of bridges and culverts – against a flood that might not hit us for twenty years or more.

But don't count on twenty years or more of grace before the nest high water excitement grips us. Does anyone reading this remember the massive flood of '64 and the destruction it wreaked on Chetwynd? How about '89 – that was a twenty-five-year gap? Most of us, of course, can clearly recall the pain and upset of 2011 when bridges, roads, businesses, homes, and other properties were severely damaged. We had not fully recovered from 2011 when we were smacked again almost exactly five years later.

My point? We don't know the day or the hour but history has told us that there is another flood event sometime in our corporate future. We are thankful for the help we have received to make intelligent plans to minimize flood risk. We also need the will to actually put in effect the measures that will reduce the damage potential when water comes down on us in fury. Merlin Nichols, Mayor
