Northeast BC Coal and Energy Forum

This year's Northeast BC Coal and Energy Forum took place this past Wednesday and Thursday at the Chetwynd and District Rec Centre. This year the event was hosted by Tumbler Ridge and Chetwynd collaboratively. The event was incredibly informative and gave everyone who attended a better understanding of the coal and energy sectors of BC. I spoke with Tim Giesbrecht of AGAT Laboratories about the event.

There was high attendance from coal and energy companies at this year's meeting, including Conuma Coal, EDI Environmental Dynamics, Hd Mining, AGAT Laboratories, Geotech Drilling and Finning and the PRRD attended the meeting as well. The first day consisted of a tour of the Twin Sisters Nursery in Moberly Lake. The second day there was a tour of Conuma Coal's Willow Creek mine and several informative presentations.

The discussions throughout the two day event consisted of the importance of metallurgical coal and how it differs significantly from thermal coal. Also how metallurgical coal tends to get tossed into the same category, making it easy to be criticized and targeted by environmentalists.

There was also talk about how to signify to the rest of the world that even with all the headlines projecting the difficulties these sectors have faced, that BC is still very much open for business and looking to expand.

The entire event was well received and well attended making it a great chance to learn and a great chance for networking.

Important keynote speakers at the two day event include official Oil and Gas Critic MLA Mike Bernier, and official Energy and Mines Critic Tom Shypitka, MLA East Kootenays. Conuma Coal's Mark Bartkoski spoke as well about their mines expansion in the past year and predictions for the future. Other important figures who attended and spoke at the meeting include John Degrace, Regional Geologist, HD Mining's Brandon Lewis, NLC's Lisa Verbisky, Mining Association of BC's Lindsey Kislock, Ministry of Transportation's Kassidi Jones, and the Honourable Bruce Ralston-Minister of Jobs.
