Large amounts of rain expected over the weekend

Warnings

2:52 AM PDT Thursday 02 July 2020

Rainfall warning in effect for:

B.C. North Peace River

B.C. South Peace River

A long episode of rain, at times heavy, is expected.

A further 20 to 30 mm of rain is expected to fall through this afternoon over the Peace River and Fort Nelson regions.

The heavy rain is being caused by low pressure centre over central Alberta drifting northwards today. Strong and moist easterly flow associated with the low is generating enhanced precipitation as the flow encounters the eastern slopes of the Rockies. Over the Muncho Lake Park-Stone Mountain Park region the most significant rainfall will be in the Tetsa River region.

The low will weaken somewhat and stall near the AB-BC border this afternoon. The character of the precipitation will become more showery with widespread thunderstorms developing this afternoon over northeastern BC that will persist throughout the evening and into the overnight period. These storms will cause local downpours that will contribute to storm rainfall totals.

Heavy downpours can cause flash floods and water pooling on roads. Watch for possible washouts near rivers, creeks and culverts.

Did you know???

More babies are born in the summer than any other time of year.

Popsicles were invented by accident.
If an icy popsicle is your summer treat of choice, you have an 11-year-old boy to thank. According to NPR, the snacks were invented by accident, courtesy of young Frank Epperson of San Francisco in 1905. As the story goes, Epperson had mixed some sugary soda powder with water and left it out overnight.

The mixture froze—and it didn't take long for Epperson to realize he made a delicious mistake. He began selling "Epsicles" around his neighborhood and then to a nearby amusement park in 1923. He finally applied for a patent in 1924. The rest, as they say, is history.

Five interesting facts about EARTHWORMS

Earthworms are fascinating creatures. Yes, it's true! Here are five unusual facts about these garden-dwellers:

1. Earthworms can process their environment thanks to their cerebral ganglion, which serves as a brain.
2. Most earthworms are hermaphroditic, meaning they have both male and female reproductive organs. However, they must still find a partner to procreate.
3. Earthworms have no lungs. They breathe through their skin, which needs to be kept moist at all times for them to survive.
4. Earthworms can travel underground to a depth of up to two metres.
5. If you cut an earthworm in half, it might still survive; it all depends on where the cut is made. If the section comprising the head is intact it can regenerate a new tail, but the tail cannot grow a new head.

Did you know this about summer?

The term the "dog days of summer" comes from astronomy.

Humans are scientifically proven to be happier in the summer.

The Eiffel Tower gets six inches taller in the summer. If you want to see the Eiffel Tower in all of its glory, then you might want to head to Paris in the summer. That's because the 1,062-foot monument is more than six inches taller in the heat, thanks to thermal expansion, which causes the iron structure to expand.

There are more than 300 varieties of watermelon.

Did you know there were 30 different types of watermelon, let alone 300?! That's according to the Watermelon Board. The most popular include seeded, seedless, and mini watermelons (all of which feature the familiar pinky-red interior), but there are also yellow and orange ones.

LOCAL SMALL BUSINESS THE PENCIL BOX - COFFEE TALK EXPRESS GETS $10K GRANT FROM CANADIAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND SALES FORCE

(CHETWYND) – June 29, 2020 – The Canadian Chamber of Commerce announced 62 $10,000 grant recipients from its Canadian Business Resilience Network Small Business Relief Fund today, including The Pencil Box ~ Coffee Talk Express here in Chetwynd.

Owner Ramonda Davidson said The Pencil Box ~ Coffee Talk Express is honoured to be a recipient of the CBRN Small Business Relief Fund.

“We thank the community for their support and my staff who have gone over and above to ensure that our customers and our community are taken care of,” Ramona Davidson, owner of The Pencil Box ~ Coffee Talk Express said, adding the funds will help with extra expenses caused by the Covid19 including PPE such as hand sanitizer and plexiglass barriers. “And it will help reduce some of our debt.”

“This is absolutely wonderful,” Naomi Larsen, Executive Director of the Chetwynd Chamber of Commerce said. “This was a fantastic program and I am so incredibly happy we were able to assist a local business and long-standing member of our Chamber here in our amazing community. Congratulations to Ramona and her staff.”

More than 1100 small businesses across Canada applied for the 62 grants available. The lucky recipients were those that best demonstrated their financial strain, how the business will use the grant to change or innovate, how the change or innovation will sustain the business’s recovery and allow it to prosper, and how the grant will support the role each business plays in their community.

The fund was managed by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and made possible through the generosity of Salesforce (NYSE:CRM). The funding was designed to help small businesses across the country stay afloat and support their recovery efforts, paying salaries, retrofitting their workplaces and acquiring technology to adapt their business model. Salesforce has also provided grants to small businesses in Canada, the U.S., the U.K. and Australia, in addition to providing other resources.

“Reviewing the applications was both heartbreaking and inspiring, We saw how seriously small businesses across Canada have been hurt by the pandemic, but we also saw how determined these entrepreneurs are to preserve their employees’ jobs and to serve their customers and their communities. Today is a happy waypoint, not an end point, and we won’t stop finding new ways to help Canada’s businesses reopen and recover. We’ll be with them every step of the way,” said Perrin Beatty, President and CEO, Canadian Chamber.

“It has been incredible to see the resilience coming from Canada’s small business owners over the last few months. We know it hasn’t been easy,” said Margaret Stuart, Canada Country Manager, Salesforce. “The applicants have further demonstrated what we at Salesforce already knew to be true - that Canada is rich with innovation and entrepreneurial talent. We’re hopeful that these grants will provide essential support to small business owners as they return to work.”

HOW TO QUICKLY SELL YOUR HOME

If you want to sell your home in a hurry, here are a few tips to help you get it off the market in record time.

HIRE A REALTOR

Choose a real estate agent who knows your region well and works for an agency you trust. Consider meeting with more than one realtor before you make a decision.

A professional agent will be able to provide clear answers to any questions you have. Throughout the selling process, you should feel comfortable making inquiries about how the sale is proceeding.

SET A FAIR PRICE

If the price of your home is too high, it could dissuade potential buyers and delay the sale of your home. On the other hand, a suspiciously low price may give people the impression that the house has issues. It's crucial to draw on your realtor's knowledge of the market to help you set a fair and competitive price. Additionally, a home inspection will help you determine your property's value and bring to light if repairs are needed.

STAGE IT

Thoroughly clean your home and remove all clutter. This will make each room look larger and more inviting. If you need to refresh the walls, choose neutral paint shades. You should also hide family portraits and other items that personalize the space. This will make it easier for potential buyers to imagine themselves living in your house. Consider hiring a home staging consultant who can help you showcase your home.

GET THE WORD OUT

To increase the chance that it'll sell quickly, show your home to as many people as possible. Once your realtor puts it on the market, there are several steps you can take to increase its visibility. Consider promoting the sale on real estate websites, in local newspapers and on social media. Additionally, make sure the for sale sign is clearly visible on your property and will catch the eye of potential buyers who drive through the area.

MEET WITH POTENTIAL BUYERS

Be upfront and answer visitor questions honestly. Make note of both positive and negative feedback you get about your house. If the buyers you meet have reservations about the property, try to determine the reason. This information can be used to justify a price adjustment or better market your house to the next visitors.

The housing market can be unpredictable, but following these recommendations will greatly improve your chances of selling your home quickly.
